A few years ago our hospital authority commissioned a study to help us prioritize what Southside Regional Medical Center would need for our future success. We quickly learned our facility required extensive physical plant improvements, including a complete interior renovation and significant equipment upgrades.

We concluded our community needed an entirely new hospital. The board agreed that to successfully move forward we needed a strong capital partner with extensive experience in both hospital operations and replacement facility planning and execution. Our partner would also need to be committed to providing charity care and to building the new facility right here in Petersburg. We found our partner with CHS. SRMC will soon break ground on a new 300-bed facility.

Since the acquisition, we've upgraded our equipment and technology, and recruited physicians in five different specialties. We've expanded services in advanced imaging, cardiac care, cancer treatment and trauma services, and we've added spine surgery, thoracic surgery, sports medicine and wound care. We are pleased with the investments that have been made in our facility and our community and we are proud to call CHS our partner. Without them this growth would not have been possible.
